

January 2020

After Ebenezer Scrooge had his conversion, Dickens tells us that his new spirit stuck around well after that Christmas. Scrooge became like a second father to Tiny Tim, and was generous to the unfortunate all year through. "Scrooge was as good a man as this good old city ever had."

This world is in desperate need of good people. Our transformation must not be put away like ornaments, rather put into daily practice. This is what Jesus came for, or as Paul puts it: "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief."

I hope you enjoyed Christmas, savoring time with loved ones and feeling that strange mix of joy and compassion, warmth and yearning. I hope that you will join Scrooge and me and countless others in trying to keep Christmas all year round. Happy new year!
